

About Dikoloto App

Objective:

The app was meant to help me track my small money lending and since it was useful to me I thought I make it public so that someone in the community can benefit from it.

What the app does:

It helps the user in the following ways:

- Save their loan details
- Track them
- Track payments
- And also be reminded about due payments

Features:

- The app is available in Setswana for Batswana.
- Comes in dark and light modes.
- Beautiful UI.

Availability:

- The app is only available in the Botswana region.
- The app is only available on Android devices.

Future Plans for the App:

- Release for iOS devices.
- Look into including other native languages, like Kalanga. Even African languages from outside the country.
- Improve User Experience as per community feedback.

Vision:

I am mostly interested in seeing the use of Setswana in the Dikoloto App help improve and shape the use of Setswana in tech. I also want to introduce a trend, maybe term it "Open Source Botswana" where we Batswana developers together with the Botswana community can congregate to help grow the use of Setswana in tech. To also incorporate our Setswana culture and knowledge and make it available on the world wide web in a way that the community can gain from and build on it. I can already envision medicine, nutrition, agriculture and so many other disciplines benefitting from such initiatives.
